

PRICE ON STOCKS IS REACTIONARY

But Reversal Had Only Moderate Effect on Sales for Week

NEW YORK, April 30.—After more than two months of irregular advances involving 21 consecutive full sessions of daily transactions in excess of 1,000,000 shares, the stock market this week manifested reactionary tendencies.

The reversal, which was exceedingly moderate in comparison with the many gains of 10 to 25 points evidently resulted in greater degree from realizing sales than from any material slowing down of public interest or support.

Delayed commitments for the long account, created by the protracted rise served to weaken the market's technical position.

Efforts of the short interests to capitalize the coal strike, prospective freight rate reductions and the more uncertain phases of the foreign situation, met with little success. Coalers were among the strongest of the railroad stocks, many of the junior rails which should prove sensitive to lower rates were notably strong and declines in international currencies were comparatively unimportant.

Faith in the future of the steel and iron industry was expressed by directors of the United States Steel and Bethlehem steel corporations.

In other leading branches of industry financial returns showed a rebound from the final quarter of 1921.

GRAND JURY FUND IS LOW

Investigation Asked of Municipal Affairs and Other Matters.

PAWBUKA, April 30.—An assistant from the office of the attorney-general will be in Pawbuka this week in connection with the district court grand jury, which convenes Monday. C. K. Templeton, county attorney here, said he had asked George Short, attorney-general of Oklahoma, to come, but the latter would send an assistant since he could not be here in person.

The grand jury was called on petition which asked that "municipal" affairs and such other things as instructed be investigated. It is the first time in years that Osage county has had a grand jury, and this one is not expected to be in session more than a week, because of funds being low.

SOUTHERN METHODIST CONF.

District Meeting of Church People Pleasant and Profitable.

Special to The World. AFTON, April 30.—The district conference of the M. E. Church, South, was held here Friday where at the activities of that body passed under review. Reports were received from the several pastoral charges in the district, and the information imparted generally was such as to indicate healthy growth and progress. Several addresses were delivered by members in the forenoon upon the subjects of church finances, Christian education and religious literature.

In the afternoon the subject of Sunday school work received a large share of attention, the discussions covering such topics as "The Pastor and the Sunday School," "The Ideal Superintendent," "Decision Day," and "The 100 Per Cent Sunday School." The business proceedings throughout the conference were harmonious and well conducted, and the devotional exercises with which they were interspersed were spiritual and profitable.

ARREST SUSPECTED HOLDUP

One Still at Large but Prisoner Is Identified by Victims.

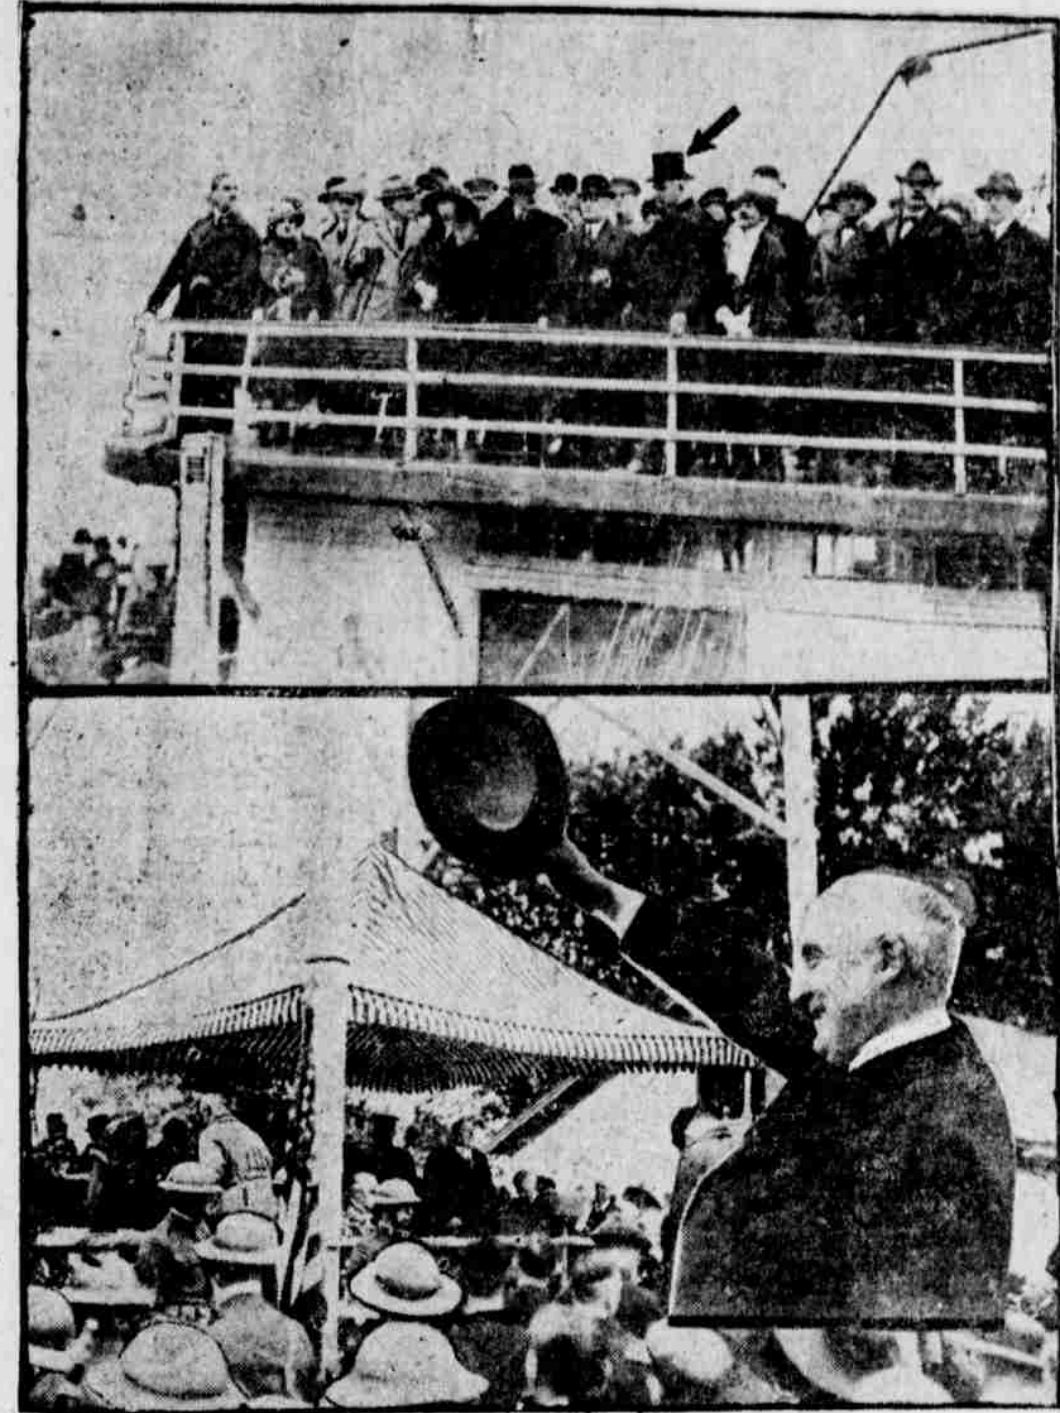

Special to The World. ROCKEFELLE, April 30.—Suspected of complicity in the street car holdup near this place a few weeks ago when Conductor Earl Stone was robbed of $40, Earl Wade, alias Earl McComb, of this place, was arrested here Wednesday afternoon by a Kansas official, taken to Baxter Springs and lodged in jail.

Since his arrest he has been identified by two miners as the man who had robbed them a short time before the holdup. His pal in the latter affair is still at large, but is expected to be in custody soon.

Roberts, chairman of the Osage county central committee, that he would visit this county in May. It is probable that a meeting of the entire committee in the county will be called to meet Mr. Seamans.

A last minute change in the plans of President Harding probably saved him from injury on the trip from Cincinnati to Point Pleasant for the U. S. Grant centennial celebration at the general-president's birthplace. He went up the river on the government tug Cuyaga, instead of the steamer Island Queen, as originally planned, to avoid the throngs.

G. O. P. JOSHED BY BILL

Bryan Returns to Home Folks Harmony Banquet and Says Republican Party Is Through.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 30.—William J. Bryan came back to his home folks today and at a "harmony" banquet attended by some 300 democrats, joshed, derided and humorously ridiculed the republican party, predicting that revenue would be one of the dominant issues in the forthcoming national campaign and said "that reaction now going on may bring about a democratic landslide."

Mr. Bryan launched into a long discussion of what he saw in the future for the democratic party "resultant from the weak leadership of the present administration, a leadership that is not in harmony with the masses and administration that has been criticized by its own party."

"We have the worst scared congress today that we have had in a long time," Mr. Bryan declared. "They are nervous about the farmer, nervous about themselves, they don't know which way the farmer is going in November."

ESTABLISHING OF CREDIT ADVISED

Retail Credit Men Show Way to Avoid Delay in Trading

On another page of The World the Associated Retail Credit Men of the city have caused to be published a copy of their "personal statement blank" together with advice to the general public that they "establish their credit today!"

The same rules of preparedness which apply to nations, states and cities, apply to individuals, and the invitation to "establish your credit" is only another way of saying—prepare now for the time when you may need a small line of mercantile credit to tide you over, or for convenience sake you may want charge accounts at stores in Tulsa or some other city where you might move.

According to W. A. Rayson, manager of the Credit Service Exchange of Tulsa, which is the official reporting bureau for the local merchants and credit men's organizations, many people moving to the city call at the office of credit bureau, and fill out the personal statement blank, just as naturally as they call at the gas company or the light company and order a meter installed at their home. These are, however, mostly people from the east where credit is harder to establish and where people more often feel the need of some positive identification in instances of wanting to get a check cashed or some other favor granted at one of the stores.

Cross, Moon and Star

Used on Suggested International Flag

CHICAGO, April 30.—A world flag, with a cross and a star and a moon on a purple field, was forwarded today to the Genoa economic conference with a suggestion for its adoption by Harry S. McCarney of Chicago.

A similar flag was sent to the disarmament conference in Washington recently. The sentiment of this "flag of all nations" was expressed in an attached card: "The cross—the most universally accepted emblem of sacrifice for others—resting across the broad highway of the future; the star of hope and life's fruition; and the waxing moon, symbol of an ever-growing and ever-buoyant cause."

Fifteen Minutes of Radio Each Day

LESSON NO. 38

The Thermionic Tube.

Part 3. The Grid.

The most revolutionary inventions in radio in the last few years have for their foundation the complete thermionic tube of three elements. When the third element, the grid, was first introduced by Dr. Lee De Forest, he laid the cornerstone for radio development, and it is doubtful whether broadcasting by radio telephone would today be a public service were it not for the three electrode thermionic tube.

The "grid" as it is called, is a mesh or screen, interposed between the filament and plate, and because of this strategic position, it can with a very small amount of energy control the electrons emitted from the filament and determine in what quantities they shall reach the plate. It will be remembered that with the filament properly lighted and a positive potential on the plate, a current will flow in the plate circuit from the plate to the filament and then externally to the plate. In figure 1 is shown by means of heavy arrows the direction of plate current, the dotted arrows showing the direction of emission and travel of electrons.

By studying figures 2 and 3 it can be seen that because of the closeness of the grid to the filament, a small negative charge placed on the grid would repel the electrons and tend to prevent their reaching the plate. A positive charge on the grid would increase the quantity of electrons leaving the filament for the plate. Figure 2 shows the grid negatively charged, and no plate current because the electrons are prevented from reaching the plate by the negative charge on the grid. Figure 3 shows a positive charge on the grid allowing the electrons to reach the plate, and a consequent

MABEL NAUGHTY IN PENITENTIARY

Girl Gets Spell in Solitary For Playing Rough Pranks

MALESTER, April 30.—Cecilia (Naughty), alias "White Bang Mabel," referred to in the press reports as a "pretty Tulsa girl" who was brought to the penitentiary Thursday from Oklahoma City to serve two years for forgery, is not making a very good start as a prisoner, according to Mrs. W. C. Kendall, matron of the woman's ward.

Mabel had to be locked up in a solitary cell Friday. For a time at least she will be deprived of the companionship of her fellow prisoners. She will not be allowed the usual freedom of the corridors, recreation room, sewing room, dining room and other rooms inside the building where Oklahoma's unfortunate women convicts are confined to pay the penalty of their various crimes.

One of the first acts committed by Mabel after her incarceration was to cut into a dress pattern intended for another prisoner and ruin it. "Mabel decided she wanted a new bonnet," the matron said, and without any permission and without consulting anyone she took the scissors and cut into the pattern. Reports of the trip over from Oklahoma City on the train indicate that there also Mabel pulled off some unusual stunts and it seems that wherever you find her she is always an unusual character.
